Tax-wise Giving Options

Certain gifts can provide significant tax benefits while supporting the church's ministry. If you are over age 70½, consider making a gift directly from your traditional IRA through a Qualified Charitable Distribution (QCD). If you own grain commodities, a direct gift of grain to the church may also offer tax advantages. Both options may help reduce your federal and state income taxes. To learn more, please contact Gordie Coffin.

Christmas Cookies

Christmas cookies are needed for the Christmas Worship Service social on December 13. Cookies can be dropped off in the Girls of Grace kitchen from December 9–12. Scan the QR code to sign up online. Contact Kate Morten at 402-416-6964 with any questions.

Girls of Grace Pie Pickup

If you have not picked up your pies from the Girls of Grace pie sale, you will find your pie in the freezer in the Girls of Grace kitchen. Names are written on the boxes in red ink. You may call or text Jeremy Felles at 402-992-8844 if you need assistance.

BAPTISM

TESTIMONIES OF GRACE

Joel Buettner was baptized on November 15, 2026.

"I was born to two believing parents and have attended IHCC for my entire life. Growing up, I was constantly made aware of the Bible and the gospel message. Whether it was at home or at either of my grandparents' houses, God, Jesus, and church were a central part of their lives. From a young age, I knew I was a sinner in need of God, but it didn't actually mean anything in my life.

"At church, I was the kid who had all the answers, and I wasted no opportunity to show off how 'smart' I could be in man's eyes. Throughout my childhood, I was a different person at church and in front of my parents, and a different person when I was on my own. I played the double life, like many 'church' kids.

"In middle school, this really started to manifest itself. I made friends at my school that were living the worldly life. While I didn't participate in all that they did, I definitely noticed my thoughts and the language I used slip. All the while, I continued to put on a front at church. I went to church, but it was not out of choice. I would occasionally read the Bible, but it was because I felt obligated to do so.

"This continued for a few years until the summer going into eighth grade. I was at Junior High camp, and a leader shared their testimony around the campfire. He talked about how he was living a double life before he was saved. Despite the fact that I had heard that numerous times before, it stuck with me that time.

"This began a time in my life when I began to examine myself and really think about my condition. Then in October, at the Junior High costume party, I heard another testimony that stuck with me. That testimony also hit on the double life. That night I was really thinking about how I knew what was right and was instead choosing to live for myself and my own ego and pride. I truly realized what a fool I was and that I could no longer live this double life and gave my life to the Lord that night.

"Following that, I definitely saw changes in my life. While I still stumbled occasionally, I saw genuine change in my inward thoughts and motives. I went to church not only to hang out with my friends but also to genuinely learn about God. I found myself reading the Bible because I wanted to, not because I felt forced to. While my outward actions may not have drastically changed, there was definitely a discernable and radical change in my life.

"I continue to see myself grow closer to Christ as I live day by day continuing an upward trajectory towards Christ. I want to live for Him and be more like Him with each passing day continuing to be a light for Him." ♦
